Detailed Report on Human Rights Day Celebrations

Venue: Government College (A), Rajahmundry

Department: Political Science

Date: 10 December (Human Rights Day)

Participants: 130 Students and Faculty Members

Introduction

Human Rights Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm and academic spirit at Government College (A), Rajahmundry, organized by the Department of Political Science. The event aimed to create awareness among students about the importance of human rights in the modern world, particularly focusing on environmental issues, world history, and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR). A total of 130 students, along with all faculty members of the department, actively participated in the event.

Inaugural Session

The programme commenced with a formal welcome by the organizers. The Vice Principal, Sri Ram Murthy, attended the event as the Chief Guest. In his inaugural address, he highlighted the increasing relevance of human rights in today's world, especially in light of environmental deterioration and climate change affecting vulnerable communities. He stressed the need for youth participation in safeguarding human rights and promoting sustainable development.

Keynote Address by the HOD

The Head of the Department of Political Science, Dr. P. Babjee, delivered an insightful lecture on Human Rights and Environmental Issues. He explained how environmental protection is closely linked to the right to life, health, and livelihood. He discussed various global and national environmental challenges such as pollution, deforestation, climate change, and the importance of environmental justice. Dr. Babjee emphasized that safeguarding the environment is not just a policy necessity but also a fundamental human right, as recognized in many international declarations.

Special Address by Faculty Members

Smt. Syed Farha Yasroon, Lecturer in Political Science, addressed the gathering with an informative lecture on the Second World War, the emergence of the United Nations, and the formulation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) in 1948. She explained how the atrocities of the war led nations across the world to unite and form a global framework to ensure the protection of human dignity. Her address helped students understand the historical background and significance of the UDHR.

The remaining faculty members—K.P.B.L. Saroja, Ch. Ramarao, A. Ramakrishna, Rajabhushanam, S. Suryanarayana, Srikanth, Eswar Ram, and others—actively participated and interacted with students, encouraging them to engage in discussions related to human rights principles and contemporary issues.

Quiz Competition

A Human Rights Quiz Competition was organized as part of the celebrations to test students' knowledge on global human rights frameworks, environmental rights, and the UDHR. Students from all three years of the Political Science discipline participated with enthusiasm. The competition created a healthy, competitive atmosphere and helped reinforce their understanding of key concepts.

Prizes were awarded to the winners by the Vice Principal and faculty members. Students appreciated this interactive segment, which added energy and excitement to the programme.

Prize Distribution and Felicitation

The winners of the quiz competition were felicitated with certificates and prizes. The Vice Principal, along with the faculty, congratulated the students and encouraged them to continue learning about national and international human rights mechanisms.

Vote of Thanks

The programme concluded with a Vote of Thanks delivered by Sri S. Ramesh, who expressed gratitude to the Vice Principal, all faculty members, and students for making the event a grand success. He acknowledged the contributions of the organizing team and thanked the Department of Political Science for taking the initiative to hold such an informative programme.

Conclusion

The Human Rights Day celebrations at Government College (A), Rajahmundry successfully created awareness among students about the importance of human rights, particularly in the context of environmental protection and global peace. The lectures, quiz competition, and active faculty participation made the event engaging and educational. The programme reflected the college's commitment to promoting human values, social responsibility, and academic excellence.
